BILLBOARDS RAISING EYEBROWS

There's no skyscrapers to catch our attention here in Michiana... but there are plenty of billboards.

And most of us pass by dozens of them everyday.

But one particular billboard is raising some eyebrows.

As Fox 28's Josh Boose found out, the topic of course is sex and you won't believe who is behind all this.

Barry Stewart: "That's ridiculous".

Karol Erlacher: "Tacky".

Ben Slocum: "I don't think it should be out in public".

Yes, it's a shock to some people.

But the big question is... who put it up there.

Johnathan Niswnger: "Maybe some condom company".

Barry Stewart: "Nothing good, maybe some internet thing or something".

Josh says: "What if I told you a church put it up there."

Ben Slocum:"You're kidding, which church?"

Josh Boose/ Fox 28 News: "Granger Community is the church The website on the billboard is linked to the church's website".

Nats of opening music on website

Dr. Mark Beeson/ GCC: "We're trying to reach people who don't go to church or who have given up on church or for those who were never interested".

The billboards play into a series of discussions scheduled at the church.

Doctor Mark Beeson thinks it's something the church community needs to talk about.

Dr. Mark Beeson: "Our practice here at Granger Community Church is to talk about the topic of the day and address the issues people are dealing with".

Some of the topics in this series aren't your typical church chat... "The Language of Lust" is one of them.... so is "The Greatest Sex You'll Ever Have".

Even the founder of triple-x church dot com will speak about pornography.

Maybe he'll bring the website's mascot... Pete the Porn Puppett.

Pete: "Tell your mommy and daddy to say no to pornography".

Yes.. they'll be talking about the dangers of porn... from the pulpit.

Dr. Mark Beeson: "It's a huge problem in America".

So the next time you see this when you drive by... remember... a church put it there... all to bring more attention to it's sermon about "the birds and the bees".

The church is looking forward to their series of talks about sex.

The first discussion is set for next weekend.
